Husqvarna Group again recognized as a Global Supplier Engagement Leader by CDP

Husqvarna Group has for the second year been recognized as a Global Supplier Engagement Leader by CDP, a not-for-profit charity that runs the global disclosure system for investors, companies, cities, states, and regions to manage their environmental impacts. Out of all companies participating, the top 8% are being named Supplier Engagement Leaders, 2022.

More than 18,600 companies have disclosed their data to the CDP and been given a Supplier Engagement Rating (SER). The system evaluates supplier engagement practices with the aim of reducing emissions in global supply chains.

"We are grateful to all our suppliers and partners who play such a big part in cutting emissions across the value chain. The mutual engagement makes a lasting difference and CDP's recognition is a confirmation that we are on the right path", says Calle Medin, Vice President Sustainability at Husqvarna Group.

CDP evaluates supplier engagement by looking at governance, targets, scope three emissions, and value chain engagement. The scores in the CDP rating system are widely used to drive investment and procurement decisions towards a zero-carbon, sustainable and resilient economy.

Husqvarna Group aims to cut the absolute CO₂ emissions across the value chain by -35 % by 2025 while profitably growing the business. By the end of 2022, the Group's total emissions were down by -32% with 2015 as base year.
