Husqvarna Group Named One of the World's Most Sustainable Companies by TIME and Statista

For the second consecutive year, Husqvarna Group has been recognized by TIME and Statista as one of the World's Most Sustainable Companies, ranking among the top Swedish companies on the 2025 global list.

The annual ranking, developed by TIME in collaboration with data analytics firm Statista, highlights 500 companies worldwide that demonstrate exceptional commitment to sustainability. The selection process began with over 5,000 of the world's largest and most influential companies and followed a rigorous four-step methodology. This included the exclusion of companies involved in non-sustainable industries, assessment of external sustainability ratings and commitments, evaluation of ESG reporting transparency, and analysis of environmental and social performance indicators such as emissions intensity, renewable energy use, gender diversity, and employee well-being.

"Being acknowledged as one of the world's most sustainable companies for the second year in a row is a strong validation of our efforts. But sustainability is not a destination, it's a continuous journey. We are committed to constantly evolving our practices, innovating responsibly, and ensuring that sustainability remains at the core of everything we do", says Calle Medin, Head of Sustainability at Husqvarna Group

Since end of 2015, Husqvarna Group has reduced its greenhouse gas emissions by more than 50%, while profitably growing the business, a clear indication that sustainable growth is achievable through strategic innovation and operational excellence.
